COMMENT

Dear Mr. Secretary;

As a grain farmer, I'm strongly opposed to the proposed increase to the CBOT's maximum daily price fluctuation limits.

I've long been critical of the way futures markets work. As far as I'm concerned, they're a buyer's market designed to hold commodity prices down. If this proposal is adopted there will be wild swings in commodity prices. Agriculture can't stand that.

If the proposal passes, my point will be proved.

Thanks for listening
