I am "this" close to cashing in "all" my chips, including my pensions, and buying gold and a foreign currency....due to the present undercurrent of removing layers of transparency to the investing public....Something very deceptive is occurring in both the political and investment worlds....and I find them very disheartening..... Hey, maybe it'll actually be good to arrange the deck chairs after all.....Do "YOU" have another career in mind after this one is destroyed????

AI
