OFF. OF THE SECRETARIAT

As one who is interested in trading commodities in the future, I hope your organization reconsiders and finds that individual investors need all the quality information they can get when going up against institutional traders. From what I've read, my understanding is that COT reports are a very valuable resource for the commodity trader. I hope your governing body decides to keep publishing these valuable reports and continue to promote "American Free Enterprise" in the United States, by having strong, stable, and liquid markets.

Sincerely,
Mark J. Stevens
Private Individual Investor
