Re: FOIA Confidential Treatment Request and Detailed Written Justification:
Appendixes to Cboe Futures Exchange, LLC
Rule Certification Submission Number CFE-2019-016

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Pursuant to §40.8(c) and §145.9(d) of the regulations promulgated by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (“Commission” or “CFTC”) under the Commodity Exchange Act (“CEA”) and pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (“FOIA”), Cboe Futures Exchange, LLC (“CFE” or “Exchange”) hereby petitions the Commission for confidential treatment of Appendix A (“Appendix A”) and Appendix B (“Appendix B”) (collectively, “Appendixes”) to CFE Rule Certification Submission Number SR-CFE-2019-016 dated September 13, 2019 (“CFE-2019-016”).

CFE-2019-016, the Appendixes, and this confidential treatment request and detailed written justification for confidential treatment have all been concurrently submitted to the Commission in accordance with Commission Regulation §40.8(c)(1). The Appendixes have been segregated from CFE-2019-016 in accordance with Commission Regulation §40.8(c)(2). Additionally, in accordance with Commission Regulation §40.8(c)(3), CFE-2019-016 indicates that the Appendixes to CFE-2019-016 have been segregated from that submission.

The information included in the Appendixes (“Confidential Information”) should be afforded confidential treatment based on, among other things, §145.9(d)(1)(ii) and (iv) of the Commission’s regulations, which implement FOIA Exemptions 4 and 7 of the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. §552(b)(4) and 5 U.S.C. §552(b)(7)), because disclosure would reveal trade secrets or confidential commercial or financial information of CFE and investigatory techniques and procedures. This request is also consistent with Section 8 of the CEA.

Exemption 4 protects “trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person” that is “privileged or confidential.” For purposes of Exemption 4, the term “commercial information” is given its ordinary meaning.¹ The D.C. Circuit has also firmly held that §145.9(d)(1)(ii) is not confined to records that “reveal basic commercial operations,” holding instead that records are commercial so long as the provider of the information has a “commercial interest” in the information submitted.² A commercial interest is present where, for example, disclosure of the relevant documents could aid competitors to identify and exploit a company’s competitive position in the market.³ The Exchange has a “commercial interest” in the Confidential Information, and it falls under the definition of “commercial” or “financial” information for purposes of Exemption 4. The Appendixes set forth and describe a market maker program for a product traded on CFE. The Confidential Information includes the financial terms of this market maker program. Among other things, the Confidential Information is commercially valuable because it took significant time and effort to develop. Other trading venues offer or may offer products that compete with CFE’s product. Competition in this regard includes the provision of incentives to liquidity providers to trade in CFE’s product in a manner that enhances market quality in CFE’s product to the benefit of all market participants in that product. Disclosure of the terms of CFE’s market maker program could aid these competitors in identifying and exploiting CFE’s competitive position in the market for this type of product and similar products and in relation to attracting and retaining liquidity providers for CFE’s product.

Additionally, the Appendixes also qualify as “confidential” for purposes of Exemption 4. Information submitted to the CFTC is considered confidential under Exemption 4 if it is customarily kept private, or at least closely held, by the person imparting it.⁴ The U.S. Supreme Court has referred to the definitions “known only to a limited few”, “not publicly disseminated”, and “intended to be held in confidence or kept secret” as examples of definitions that elucidate this standard.⁵ Consistent with this standard, CFE both customarily and actually treats as private the market performance benchmarks and benefits provided under the market maker program set forth and described in the Appendixes. It is customary for designated contract markets and swap execution facilities not to make available to the public the market performance benchmarks and benefits provided pursuant to their market maker programs. For competitive and commercial reasons, CFE follows the same practice and will do so for the market maker program set forth and described in the Appendixes and any subsequently adopted or amended market maker programs.

Disclosure of the commercial terms of the market maker program set forth and described in the Appendixes holds the potential for significant competitive harm to the Exchange as it would allow competitors of the Exchange to view the commercial terms of the market maker program and potentially undermine any competitive advantage obtained by the Exchange. CFE voluntarily provided the Appendixes to the Commission in connection with a rule certification to the Commission in order to demonstrate compliance with the CEA and relevant Commission regulations. Furthermore, it should be noted that there is no regulatory requirement that this information be publicly disclosed.

Additionally, Exemption 7(E) protects “records or information compiled for a law enforcement purpose, ... to the extent that the production of such law enforcement records or information ... would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law.”⁶ 5 U.S.C. §552(b)(7)(E). In this case, the market surveillance described in Appendix B is conducted in connection with CFE’s role as a self-regulatory organization and the regulation of CFE’s market. Appendix B discloses regulatory techniques and procedures utilized by CFE in coordination with National Futures Association in performing those functions. Disclosure of the content of Appendix B could assist a market participant that desires to engage in behavior that violates CFE rules, Commission regulations, and/or the CEA in seeking to avoid detection of that behavior. Therefore, the Confidential Information is exempt from public disclosure under Exemption 7(E).

CFE hereby requests that the Appendixes be afforded confidential treatment in perpetuity.

CFE requests that the Commission notify CFE upon the receipt of any request by any party for any access under FOIA to the Confidential Information or any court order, subpoena, or summons for disclosure of the Confidential Information for the entire duration that the Commission retains the Confidential Information. CFE further requests notification in the event that the Commission intends to disclose the Confidential Information in whole or in part to Congress or to any other governmental agency or unit pursuant to Section 8 of the CEA. CFE does not waive its notification rights under Section 8(f) of the CEA with respect to any subpoena or summons for the Confidential Information.
