Cash Market Overview and Analysis of Deliverable Supply

Appendix C to part 38 of the Commission's regulations defines deliverable supply as "the quantity of the commodity meeting the contract's delivery specifications that can reasonably be expected to be readily available to short traders and saleable by long traders at its market value in normal cash marketing channels at the derivative contract's delivery points during the specified delivery period, barring abnormal movement in interstate commerce."

The Monday and Wednesday Weekly Gold Option contracts (the "Contracts") are referenced contracts and will be subject to federal position limits during the spot month. The core referenced futures contract is the Silver Futures contract (Commodity Code: SI; Rulebook Chapter 112).

Deliverable supply is defined as material that is readily available and meets the Exchange futures contracts' specifications in terms of shape, weight, and quality. As general practice, COMEX has relied on inventory stored in Exchange approved facilities to support spot month position limits of its physically delivered futures contracts. The proposal for spot month position limits for the weekly option contracts is based on the deliverable supply analysis of their respective futures contracts as the option contracts will aggregate into the futures contracts for position limit purposes.

Approved Depositories and Stock Reporting Requirements

To date, Exchange approved depositories for silver are Brinks, Inc., Delaware Depository Service Company, CNT Depository, HSBC Bank, USA, International Depository Services of Delaware, JP Morgan Chase Bank NA, Malca-Amit USA, LLC, Loomis, International and MTB.

Pursuant to the rules of the Exchange, each depository is required to report to the Exchange the level of Exchange grade inventory on a daily basis. The inventory shall include eligible and registered metal. Eligible metal shall mean all such metal that is acceptable for delivery against the respective Exchange futures contract (i.e., which meets the specifications and approved brands of the respective futures contract) for which a warrant has not been issued. Registered metal shall mean eligible metal for which a warrant has been issued. Specifically, on a daily basis, each depository is required to provide the Exchange (1) the total quantity of registered metal stored at the depository, (2) the total quantity of eligible metal stored at the depository, and (3) the quantity of eligible metal and registered metal received and withdrawn from the depository.

The inventory levels at all Exchange-approved depositories for silver are made publicly available daily on the Exchange website.<sup>1</sup> Further, the rules of the Exchange require an independent inventory audit to be performed annually to provide a comprehensive reconciliation of stocks stored at depositories with records maintained by both the Exchange and the depository.<sup>2</sup>

Deliverable Supply Analysis

The Exchange determined at this time to base its estimates of deliverable supply of silver on registered stock as well as such silver stock meeting all specifications of the Silver Futures contract stored at Exchange approved depositories. The Exchange recognizes that silver is used as an investment vehicle and as such some silver stock may be held as a long-term investment. While surveys conducted indicated no clear consensus as to how much silver is dedicated to long term investments, the Exchange, in an effort to represent a conservative deliverable supply that may be readily available for delivery, made a determination to discount from its estimate of deliverable supply 50% of its reported eligible silver at this time.

Over the most recent 3-year period, the monthly average of registered silver was 20,901 futures contract equivalents. The monthly average of eligible silver was 23,540 futures contract equivalents accounting for the 50% discount. Based on the foregoing, the Exchange estimates monthly deliverable supply of silver at approximately 44,451 futures contract equivalents. The current spot month position limit of 3,000 contracts represents 6.7% of the estimated monthly deliverable supply. Therefore, the proposed spot month position limit for the Contracts is 3,000 contracts as the Contracts will aggregate into Silver Futures for position limit purposes.
