("COMEX") (collectively, the "Exchanges") as underlying reference prices for certain commodity products have provided details of their publication schedules for the upcoming Thanksgiving Day holiday period, as summarized in the table below.

Price Reporting Agency	Publication Schedule
Argus Media	No crude oil, refined oil, biofuel or LPG price assessments to be published on Thursday 28 November and Friday 29 November.
The Baltic Exchange	No price assessments to be published on Thursday 28 November and Friday 29 November.
OPIS	No price assessments to be published on Thursday 28 November and Friday 29 November.

The above information reflects the current understanding of the Exchanges and may be subject to revision and clarification by the individual companies. In addition, during the holiday period on days where price assessments are being published, the timing of such publication may be amended. Market participants should consider the implication of these publication schedules on final settlement prices for expiring and spot month contracts.

As a consequence of the above information, NYMEX will suspend trading and clearing of a number of balance of month and daily contracts from trading on CME Globex and for submission of clearing via CME ClearPort, as detailed HERE.
